Such infiltration by the Viet Cong has always been followed by an attack in the past. This time they are expected to hit the same areas they did during the offensives in February and May-Cholon, the Chinese quarter in the southwest part of the Intelligence sources have reported that captured documents and prisoner interrogations indicate the Communist command is planning a full-scale attack on the capital late this month or early in July.

Seek Talks Lever

The aim, U.S. officers say, is to strengthen Hanoi's bargaining position at the peace negotiations in Paris.

Informants estimate 12,500 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops are within a 25-mile radius of Saigon.

The U.S. Command has 6,000 troops on the edges of Saigon, while 4,000 South Vietnamese are stationed inside the city. To blunt the threatened attack, about 10,000 allied soldiers have been patrolling intensively within a 15-mile arc of Saigon. The Saigon area also has been given top priority for air strikes by B52 bombers in a campaign to smash infiltration and supply corridors from rear staging bases. An average of 50 B52s have been hitting enemy positions each day. Hide In Swamps

Despite the massive air and ground effort, U.S. officers concede that the enemy will be able to slip troops through defensive lines. Because of the terrain, it is frequently difficult to pinpoint the enemy positions. In adjoining Hau Nghia Province, for example, they are said to be concealed in sugar cane fields, canels and swamps

By T-4 MIKE UTT (Daily Press Sports Editor) CAMP GRAYLING — Co. C, 107th Engineer Battalion of the Michigan National Guard is acheduled to leave Camp Grayling Saturday morning and will arrive back home in Gladstone early Saturday afternoon after its annual two week encampment and field training here.

Bivouac is over and the men of Co. C have moved back to their base quarters in the camp here. Last Saturday the men were inspected by an officer from battalion headquarters. Vehicles, equipment and living quarters were also inspected. After the inspection the men were released on off-duty hours until Sunday night.

Classes resumed Monday morning. A compass course was laid out and the men were put out in the woods and had to find their way out by the use of a compass and directions that were given at various posts in the woods. The class Monday afternoon dealt with knot-tying and the erection of a ginpole, a tripod and a shear. The various knots learned in the knot-tying class were used in making the three structures. Tuesday the men were involved in a command maintenance management inspection. The CMMI concerns the conditions of equipment and vehicles as to cleanliness and useful condition. Deficiencies and inoperable equipment are cor-

North 20 years ago, Russell Robertson, superinger of the Marquette Fish Hatchery, began taking as from take trout in order to produce these fish in the hatchery.

There had been plenty of natural lake trout reproduction in Lake Superior, but Robertson — possibly foreseeing the eventful need for a source of supply of lake trout for planting — began this project of his own volition and kept at it until he had a brood stock of female trout for egg production at the hatchery every wear. As it turned out, this brood stock was to play a vital role in the restoration of lake trout in the Great Lakes.

Meanwhile, lake trout were all but exterminated from Lakes Michigan and Huron in the 1950s and serlously jeopardised in Lake Superior. The sea lamprey, a parasitic fish which attaches itself to its prey by means of a sucker-like mouth, was blamed for depleting lake trout.

The Great Lakes Fisheries Commission — an international agency with representatives from the Province of Ontario and the states bordering the Great Lakes was organised primarily to find a solution to the lamprey problem.

Research conducted by the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, a member agency of the commission, agoduced a larvicide which selectively killed young lambrevs in streams without endangering other aquatic life. Streams tributary to Lake Superior were treated with this chemical to rid them of lamprey larvae. Coincident with this anti-lamprey program, the rate of scarring of Lake trout by lampreys began to decline.

Believing that lampreys now could be controlled, the commission turned to restocking the Great Lakes with take trout. This would have posed a serious problem had it not been for the work that Robertson had been carrying on almost unnoticed at the Marquette Hatchary. When the time came for restocking, Robertson's lake trout brood stock were producing millions of eggs. (To date, they have produced more than 78,000,000 eggs for rearing and eventual planting.)

Millions of these eggs were turned over to the federal government for the Great Lakes planting program. Others went to state conservation agencies for lake trout propagation. And some were used by Robertson to produce Michigan's first splake, a hybrid between lake trout and brook trout that has now become estabfished as a sport fishing species in Michigan — thanks sents the second half of the li- seems that the only time the public buildings are sacked and overcalls and passed. to Robertson's pioneering efforts.

Sportsmen's Friend

Nearly 20 years ago, Russell Robertson, superintendent of the Marquette Fish Hatchery, began taking eggs from lake trout in order to produce these fish in the hatchery.

There had been plenty of natural lake trout reproduction in Lake Superior, but Robertson - possibly foreseeing the eventful need for a source of supply of lake trout for planting - began this project of his own volition and kept at it until he had a brood stock of female trout for egg production at the hatchery every year. As it turned out, this brood stock was to play a vital role in the restoration of lake trout in the Great Lakes.

Meanwhile, lake trout were all but exterminated from Lakes Michigan and Huron in the 1950s and seriously jeopardized in Lake Superior. The sea lamprey, a parasitic fish which attaches itself to its prey by means of a sucker-like mouth, was blamed for depleting lake trout.

The Great Lakes Fisheries Commission - an international agency with representatives from the Province of Ontario and the states bordering the Great Lakes - was organized primarily to find a solution to the lamprey problem.

Research conducted by the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, a member agency of the commission, produced a larvicide which selectively killed young lampreys in streams without endangering other aquatic life. Streams tributary to Lake Superior were treated with this chemical to rid them of lamprey larvae. Coincident with this anti-lamprey program, the rate of scarring of Lake trout by lampreys began to decline.

Believing that lampreys now could be controlled, the commission turned to restocking the Great Lakes with lake trout. This would have posed a serious problem had it not been for the work that Robertson had been carrying on almost unnoticed at the Marquette Hatchery. When the time came for restocking, Robertson's lake trout brood stock were producing millions of eggs. (To date, they have produced more than 73,000,000 eggs for rearing and eventual planting.)

Millions of these eggs were turned over to the federal government for the Great Lakes planting program. Others went to state conservation agencies for lake trout propagation. And some were used by Robertson to produce Michigan's first splake, a hybrid between lake trout and brook trout that has now become estab- libraries. This amount repre- the pending gun legislation. Boom Growing

NEW YORK (AP) - "Some day swimming pools are going to be common as second bathrooms," said the swimming pool marketing men. "Well, maybe not that common but there'll be a lot of them." he added.

The statistics tend to document the letter part of his claim. An industry census shows that from less than 11.000 pools 20 years ago, the total now has grown to more than 800,000. And the growth seems to be intensifying.

By the end of this year, says the Hoffman-Harris Co., a publisher whose figures generally are accepted by the industry, hotels and motels will have built another 9.550 pools, clubs another 1,900, municipalities 1,400, schools 1,700 and homeowners more than 60.000.

Behind this boom in swimming pools are not just higher incomes but basic changes in American habits and attitudes. A swimming pool is slowly falling from the extreme huxury category, for example. To many it is now a health tank.

"The old idea of the swimming pool as something of a Roman bath doesn't hold water anymore," said a spokesman for the National Swimming Pool Institute, a trade organization.

"Now swimming is a health activity," he said, "one of the best sports for maintaining cardiovascular health."

Convenience is another factor. People ask themselves why they should drive 40 or 50 miles to and from a crowded beach when swimming can be available just beyond their patio and right next to the television set and the charcoal broiler.

A good small pool, something less than 15 feet by 30 feet, might cost somewhere around $3,000 installed and equipped, although prices range widely. In the middle sizes, between 15 by 30 and 20 by 40, prices generally are a bit more than $4,000.

Swimming Pool Boom Growing

NEW YORK (AP) - "Someday swimming pools are going to be common as second bathrooms," said the swimming pool marketing man. "Well, maybe not that common but there'll be a lot of them," he added.

The statistics tend to document the latter part of his claim. An industry census shows that from less than 11,000 pools 20 years ago, the total now has grown to more than 800,000. And the growth seems to be in-

By the end of this year, says the Hoffman-Harris Co., a publisher whose figures generally are accepted by the industry, hotels and motels will have built another 9,550 pools, clubs another 1,900, municipalities 1,400, schools 1,700 and homeowners more than 60,000.

Behind this boom in swimming pools are not just higher ably has a "busier" appearance incomes but basic changes in than a two-story. house, pri-American habits and attitudes. A swimming pool is slowly falling from the extreme luxury category, for example. To many it is now a health tank.

"The old idea of the swimming pool as something of a Roman bath doesn't hold water anymore," said a spokesman for the National Swimming Pool Institute, a trade organization.

"Now swimming is a health activity," he said, "one of the best sports for maintaining cardiovascular health." Convenience is another factor. People ask themselves why they should drive 40 or 50 miles to and from a crowded beach when swimming can be available just beyond their patio and right next to the television set and the charcoal broiler.

A good small pool, something less than 15 feet by 30 feet, might cost somewhere around $3,000 installed and equipped, although prices range widely. In the middle sizes, between 15 by 30 and 20 by 40, prices generally are a bit more than $4,000.

It turned out static, frustrating hour of often to be mostly a bitter monologue misinformed angry talk. by Harry Belafonte blaming the white community for all the troubles in this troubled land, and no one on the program gave him any argument.

Television, like newspapers and radio, has reflected the vital concern and anxiety of the nation by current events, and the series, "A Time for Americans," is part of it. Belafonte's tirade, more a reflection of his emotions than his information, shed heat but little light on the subject of race relations.

It was one of those round-table discussions, currently a TV epidemic. Participants were newscaster Frank Reynolds, who made no attempt to steer the discussion of the all-Negro panel; Belafonte, actress Lena Horne, psychiatrist Alvin Poussaint and Larry Neal, described as an essayist, poet and critic. Miss Horne did manage to describe briefly her unhappy experiences 25 years ago in the Hollywood studios, and Dr. stated: "We find, as matters of Poussaint slipped in a few measured observations about the "white-controlled media." But it was Belafonte's hour and he sumption of prejudice" which struck out in all directions and stepped on everyone else's lines. He accused television of being

McLain, 13-2, Named To AL Pitching Staff

BOSTON (AP) — New Faces of 1968 could well be the name for the youthful and relatively inexperienced pitching corps which will represent the American League in the All-Star game at Houston July 9.

Not a single repeater from 1967 was on the seven-man staff named Thursday by Manager Dick Williams. Four were chosen for the first time in their careers, while the other three - Denny McLain of Detroit, Sam McDowell of Cleveland and Mel Stottlemyre of New York - have hurled in one previous classic each.

Mets Single Victory From Even Record

Here come the Mets! Again! New York's grown-up expansion babes soured within a stride of hitherto unreachable heights Thursday night ... for the fifth time this month . . . by trimming Houston 3-1 behind right-handers Don Cardwell and Ron Taylor.

The victory put the Mets' season record at 35-36. They never have reached the .500 level, after the first week, in any of their previous six National League seasons. But for the past two weeks it's been touch and go.

A four-game winning streak brought the Mets within a step of the elusive break-even point on June 14. The next day they rattled 16 hits off San Francisco's Juan Marichal . . . and lost Versalles' leadoff homer off Marichal in the 11th ruined the Giant ace's bid for his 15th victory and dropped San Francisco into third place, one-half game behind Atlanta and seven back of the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals.

McCovey Hits Two

Willie McCovey drove in four runs with his 19th and 20th homers, staking Marichal to an early 5-2 lead. The Dodgers rebounded on Len Gabrielson's two-run homer in the fifth and tied it on pinch hitter Ken Boyer's run-scoring single in the sixth Four LA relievers then bettled Marichal, 14-3, to a standoff until Versalles' second homer broke the tie.

Hank Aaron drilled his 14th nomer . . . and 495th of his career ... and brother Tommie delivered two runs with a pair of singles, helping the Braves take a 4-2 lead into the ninth.

But winner Pat Jarvis needed relief help from Cecil Upshaw. who retired Rich Allen on a sharp grounder to third baseman Marty Martinez for the final out after pinch hitter Bill White's RBI single had closed the gap.

McLain, 13-2, Named To AL Pitching Staff

BOSTON (AP) - New Faces of 1968 could well be the name for the youthful and relatively inexperienced pitching corps which will represent the American League in the All-Star game at Houston July 9.

Not a single repeater from 1967 was on the seven-man staff named Thursday by Manager Dick Williams. Four were chosen for the first time in their careers, while the other three - Denny McLain of Detroit, Sam McDowell of Cleveland and Mel Stottlemyre of New York - have hurled in one previous classic each. LOSER BORN

HOW DARE YOU TELL THE GIBBSES THAT I HAVE A WILL TO TALK INCESSANTLY! I KNOW LOTS OF PEOPLE WHO GO. ON AND ON FOR HOURS AND NEVER LET ANYBODY GET A WORD IN EDGEWISE! SALLY WINECOOP IS AN EXCELLENT EXAMPLE! IF YOU HAD PUT A CLOCK ON HER WHEN SHE LAUNCHED INTO THAT DISSERTATION ON HER GARDEN CLUB, YOU'D HAVE FOUND THAT SHE HELD THE FLOOR FOR A GOOD TWENTY MINUTES! AND HOW ABOUT YOUR BORING FRIEND HOWARD SNOOTPELT AND HIS DUST-DRY ACCOUNT OF THEIR TRIP TO SQUAW FALLS LAST SUMMER? OH, THEY WERE ALL YAKKING IT UP PRETTY 6000, BUT WHO HAD TO ANNOUNCE TO ONE AND ALL IN A LOUD VOICE THAT HIS WIFE HAS A WILL TO TALK INCESSANTLY? OH, YOU REALLY DID IT THAT TIME! OF COURSE, IF I WERE THE TYPE TO GO ON AND ON AND ON, YOU'D REALLYHEARSOMETHINGBECAUSETHAVE ALOTTOSAYBUTYOUWON'TCATCHMESAYINGITBECAUSEWHETHERYOUBELIEVEITORNOTIFISAYSO.

In Memoriam

Anderson In loving memory of our dear father, Charles A. Anderson, who passed away June 28, 1967. We mourn the loss of one we loved.

We mourn the loss of one we loved, We did our best to save:
Beloved in life, regretted still,
Remembered in his grave.
No more upon this earth
We'll see his gentle, loving face,
There is not one in the wide world Can ever take his place.

Walking 'Protest' Brings Escanaba

By DAVE ANDREWS

A 71-year-old woman who has carried her "walking protest" against U.S. society to 39 states finally made it to Escanaba Thursday laden down with hundreds of sheriff's badges acquired in her travels and a cold from the rainy weather.

Mrs. Helen Hall, tagged "Queen of the Road" by a Miami, Fla., television station, turned up at the Delta County Sheriff's office about 3:30 a.m. after hitching a ride

County patrol.

Wearing overalls and hiking shoes, she said she plans to continue walking and hitching rides from police officers through the Upper Peninsula, across the Mackinac Straits and through Lower Michigan to the east coast.

There are several states there - New Hampshire. Vermont, Massachusetts and Maine — she hasn't had a chance to visit, she pointed

Born in New York, Mrs. Hall said she was residing in Philadelphia when she began her "protest" walks.

In 1959, she said, she fell on ice and broke her arm. Severe arthritis resulted, she continued, and she was forced to go on public welfare to

In 1965, she said, she was living in a small house in Philadelphia and needed coal for the winter. When the Welfare Dept. refused to provide it, she continued, she moved to a small flat and as a result the Welfare Dept. cut her allowance.

After protesting to no avail in Philadelphia, she said she walked to Washington in an attempt to seek President Johnson.

Again failing, Mrs. Hall said she began "protest" walking around the nation. "If the United States can

By DAVE ANDREWS

A 71-year-old woman who has carried her "walking protest" against U.S. society to 39 states finally made it to Escanaba Thursday laden down with hundreds of sheriff's badges acquired in her travels and a cold from the rainy weather.

Mrs. Helen Hall, tagged "Queen of the Road" by a Miami, Fla., television station, turned up at the Delta County Sheriff's office about

Wearing overalls and hiking shoes, she said she plans to continue walking and hitching rides from police officers through the Upper Peninsula, across the Mackinac Straits and through Lower Michigan to the east coast.

There are several states there - New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Maine — she hasn't had a chance to visit, she pointed

Born in New York, Mrs. Hall said she was residing in Philadelphia when she began her "protest" walks.

In 1959, she said, she fell on ice and broke her arm. Severe arthritis resulted, she continued, and she was forced to go on public welfare to

In 1965, she said, she was living in a small house in Philadelphia and needed coal for the winter. When the Welfare Dept. refused to provide it, she continued, she moved to a small flat and as a result the Welfare Dept. cut her allowance.

After protesting to no avail in Philadelphia, she said she walked to Washington in an attempt to seek President Again failing, Mrs. Hall said she began "protest" walking around the nation.

"If the United States can pay Cubans who come to the country, why can't it take care of its own people," she complained.

The badges, neatly pinned on almost every available square inch of her denim overalls, almost gave the impression of a medieval shield. Additional police identification patches were sewed on her overalls and dozens more are carried in a two-wheeled cart she drags along with her.

"When I stop walking I'm going to open a museum to show these," she said. "I'm also going to write a book. I have 24 keys to cities and 31/2 scrap books of newspaper clippings."

She said she has walked over 16,000 miles, wearing out 10 or 12 pairs of shoes and five or six carts. When she left town this morning, however, she was riding - in the Sheriff's Dept. dog wagon.

The last officers saw of her was at Garden Corners.
